

Indiana Reconstructed Vehicle Title Brand

New Information

Effective December 12, 2011, the Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles began using a “reconstructed” vehicle title brand for vehicles not previously salvaged, but assembled from new major component parts.

The Indiana Certificate of Title will state RECONSTRUCTED-ASSEMBLED VEHICLE in the Brand(s) section on the right side of the document.

California does not have a statute, prior history code, or vehicle title brand equivalent to the Indiana “reconstructed” vehicle title brand; therefore, the Indiana “reconstructed” vehicle title brand will not be carried forward on any California Certificate of Title.

Procedures

If registering a vehicle that has an Indiana Certificate of Title containing a “reconstructed” vehicle title brand, prepare and submit as a normal nonresident application following the procedures found in the Vehicle Industry Registration Procedures Manual §12.025 (HTML version).

Background

The State of Indiana recently added “reconstructed” to its vehicle title brands.
